USEFUL EYE INFORMATION BY DR. G. W. STONE.

School Patrons Will Do Well By Reading This Article and Taking Useful Advice Given--Question of Vital Importance.

MUCH BENEFIT TO BE DERIVED THEREFROM.

As school time has come again, I thought I would say a few things of vital importance to the teachers and parents in regard to their children's eyes. It is an open question as to whether the eyes of many children are equal to the demands of civilization. When we consider the age of the world and then the development of modern printing and its use in schools, we feel that it is going to take many thousands of years before all eyes will be fully altered to fit the continuance of present school conditions. Fine print and sewing are bad enough, especially, when they are made apart of a Kindergarten course. But when we add to this musical notes written in small type it is not at all strange that eyestrain should be prevalent.

In care of books used in school there has been a steady improvement which has, however, for economical reasons, not yet gone far enough. Every school book should be in large type, well spaced with narrow columns and not on lined paper. This will reduce the strain on the vision to the lowest point. But the reform should not stop there. There is the question of desks. Each child should have a desk to fit him or her, and these are to be had in the market. Some schools use them. Where the desks do not fit, then the body not being properly supported, the muscles begin to droop. The child to be comfortable, comes to near to his work and eye troubles are the results. In other cases however, weariness of the effort is the main point and the child ceases to be a scholar. Child nature has been studied a great deal, but the limitations of children's endurance is not yet one of the courses given to teachers. A child should have frequent periods of rest, a great deal of their work, especially in arithmetic, should be done standing at blackboards on which dustless crayon is used, when small they should have no home task at all, in grammar schools these tasks should be light and few, though beyond that point they seem to be an unavoidable part of modern school life. The light in the schools should be of the right kind and from the correct direction--from the left, under no circumstances should their eyes face the light, the teacher should keep records of the eye sight of the pupils. Not scientific records, but simple ones which will not require on her part more than an hour of study to understand and possibly two or three hours of the whole session to make and keep in the care of those children, who fail on the simple sight test given. Notices should be sent to the parent and where their notices are not observed, they should be followed up by further ones.

Myopia. This is the scientific name for near sightedness. A near sighted child can see well near by, but not at a distance. Such a child does not like to play with his fellows, as he is always the caught. Myopia in school children tends to grow steadily worse. The Myopia may develop into cases of disease, and where this is not the case, the child is robbed of most of the enjoyment of life. Myopic children are usually unchildishly sober in demeanor.

Then should a child wear glasses? In the first place, any child old enough to study, and who has to study, should wear glasses if their eyes are not normal. This will be shown in several ways, difficulty in seeing either far or near, pains in the eyes and headaches. School life is an important piece of business, and since almost the only one of the five senses used in school, is the eye, and this sense is used to excess. Every child's eyes without exceptions, should before commencing school life, be examined in order to see to what extent they are prepared to take up the work, knowledge under modern conditions is an absolute necessity, but so is vision, be it, no chance should be taken. The idea that all eyes are bright and near, or less alike is about as true as to say that all people should be of the same height, weight, color of hair or state of health.

It is strange how some people will over-work their eyes. They will rest their backs when tired, but for a tired eye, they have no mercy, but they will read on the cars, read when sleepy or do fine work, not because they have to but because they take pleasure in it, though the eyes are rebelling all the time, they will read poor print and small print though their eyes are meantime on a continual strain. None of these things ought to be done, as they force the owner of the eyes to wear spectacles sooner than would otherwise be the case, yet every one with normal eyes must wear glasses for reading sooner or later. That is the order of nature but though no one likes the idea of putting on glasses, still they will do these very things which make the wearing of glasses indubitably a necessity. When such a one is forced to go at last to the optometrist, and wonders why. The reason is simple, they have over-worked their eyes and must pay the penalty. When you have to turn the light very high to see to read when you have to hold the print too far away from your eyes, when you have to hold the print under your nose, when your eyes ache or water when you have headaches which headache powders won't cure, when things look misty or double and when your eyes trouble you in this way, it is time for you to have them examined. Let no one put atropine in your eyes. To fit you with glasses atropine is poison, it is the alkaloid from belladonna just as morphine is the alkaloid from opium, all medicines have their place, but not in the eyes when being fit with glasses.

Some old people regain their vision by what is called "second sight," this is an abnormal condition of the lens of the eye, in which it swells and gains magnifying power. In some cases, second sight is permanent, but usually it is followed by slowly failing vision. You will hear some say that many people wear glasses for style, this is a mistake, people wear glasses for the benefit derived from them. Later I may say more on this subject.

Quarterly Meeting.

The quarterly meeting at Shady Grove, Aug. 1st, 1908, Bro. Tompkins in the chair and R. C. Love, P. E., in his place. The stewards were not all present. Sixty-four dollars and thirty cents reported Shady Grove out of debt or up with their pastor. Good for Shady Grove.

They are putting up a good neat church there, and the people have already got a smile on their face. The kind Baptist gave us the privilege to hold our quarterly conference in their church for which we thank them, and pray God's blessing upon them for their kindness to us, and they brought well filled baskets and we all had a good time together and every thing went smooth and nice, plenty of good things left to carry back home and they said give us the next meeting, but we thought it best to give it to Rosebud. We had a fine sermon Saturday, "Math. 7:27, 5, 6 and 7 chapters, my! my! how the presiding elder did run the lines, he never went around anything, this is the kind of preaching that we need and we all know it was bible and that is what saves the people.

We were glad to see our old friends again and shake their hands and talk of days that have passed, when we used to meet George Campbell, Thomas Hubbard and Bro. Elder, who were stewards in those days. We met some of their children. There are lots of good people in and around Shady Grove. May God's richest blessings rest upon all of them, is my prayer. W. J. Hill.

M. F. P.

We read the poem in last week's Press.

And it don't suit us you see, For the Hyensburg yeller overalls,

To be railing at M. F. P.

M. F. P. is all O. K., He works just where he ought to be And you'd all do a sight more good,

It you thought like M. F. P.

So now why you're different tho

You get your bed a little free,

And get a nice little dog with you If you only rail at M. F. P.

You talk of Rufus Robinson, Who tells of countries free,

But if he'd do the proper thing, He'd agree with M. F. P.

Yet we know an attempt would be useless still,

To make right and wrong agree,

So we'll let you say just what you please,

But we'll stand by M. F. P.

After that date all my accounts both store and medical will be turned over to an authorized agent, with instructions to press collection. So please don't think hard of me, as you have had sufficient notice.

Yours Very truly,

PROFESOR H. H. CHERRY'S ADDRESS

Before the Teacher's Institute, Thursday Morning, September 3rd, 1908.

SHOULD BE READ BY TEACHERS AND PATRONS.

Democracy belongs to one political party or social organization. It is a spirit, an inalienable and universal energy that belongs to the individual. It is a concept, an ideal, a spiritual heaven, an individuality, a personality implanted by God and cultivated by man in the human breast.

Being a spirit, it is not a limp and helpless thing with a hollow meaningless voice, but rather a masculine positive, rational and sympathetic life that shoulders responsibilities and trudges along under them. It is not a spiritual consumptive, a "sissy", but a pioneer, a John the Baptist in the wilderness of conservative society crying, "Follow thou me", and, as it moves forward the search of truth it persuades, it illuminates, it challenges because it is a fearless and able leader whose personality is liberty. Its life being one of love, interest and duty, it becomes at once the relentless foe of all forms of artificial caste and industrial tyranny.

The principle of Democracy sees the world no longer as a "divided fragment", a disconnected series of spheres, in which various grades of education may be sets but as one world, organism, a single sphere in is no higher or lower, no academic aristocracy or detached group of the learned, but an inter-dependant, associated common life where men are measured in the spirit world and not in the outworn world. The citizens pursuing any honorable business, who has the power of self control and is a master of his task, is in American, an aristocrat. The blacksmith who hammers thought and conscience into his horseshoe and renders a noble service to his county is as much a martyr in the great spiritual enterprise that is being developed in this country as the individual who puts conscience and thought into the performance of his daily duties while occupying the highest position in the palaces of the free government. Democracy is one historian who looks within before writing an epitaph.

Democracy appeared on the deck of the Olympia, saluted Dewey and declared to the world that without him there would not have been a Manila victory, but it did not stop here it went down into the hold of the Olympia and saluted John Whittier who in a temperature of 130 degrees shoveled coal into the engine and declared that without there would not have been a Manila victory.

J. G. Holland, the eminent author, wrote: "No work that God sets a man to do: no work to which God has especially adopted a man's powers can properly be called either menial or mean. The man who blacks your boots and blacks them well, and who engages in that variety of labor because he can do it better than he can do any thing else, may have, if he choose, just as sound and true manhood as you have not only after he gets through the work of his life, but now, with your boots in one hand and your shillings in the other."

We hear much during this constructive, complex, and strenuous century about a democracy that will introduce freedom and opportunity to ever child in the land; and many programs, platforms, and propositions are presented to it as though applied and practical democracy were a thing to be brought into existence by some magic, prifiteacial process as though it were a thing to be put together like a building which should be big enough to hold us all and offer a sweet repose negative souls. We forget that democracy is a spiritual life that must be grown and; if we would attain unto a full grown democracy, we must first attain unto a full grown citizenship; and, if we attain unto a full grown citizenship, we must educate. A great Commonwealth must be achieved.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.

A Woman Finds All Her Energy And Amrition Slipping Away.

Marion women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headache, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Marion woman's words:

Mrs. Emma Weldon, living on Salem St., Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney trouble had annoyed me for five years, and had greatly impaired my general health. My back was lame and pained me most of the time. I had frequent headaches and could scarcely see at times. None of the remedies I used seemed to give me any benefit until I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's drug store. The beneficial effect of this remedy was truly marvelous. And after two months there was not a sign of kidney trouble remaining. I often recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and only regret that I did not hear of this remedy sooner as it would have saved me much expense and misery."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

LIQUEFYING HONEY.

Utensil That Will Do Work on a Small Scale Without Overheating.

With ordinary methods there is danger of scorching the honey on the outside of the mass while the center is still ungranulated. There is a method that almost anyone can follow.

Honey Liquefier.

whereby a great difference between the temperature of the center of the granulated blocks and that on the outside can be avoided. Perhaps you have even the time (a tube running up the middle) used in making "angel cake." Well, we have a taller (in here in Boston, writes a correspondent of New Culture, used for making brown bread, plum puddings, etc., with a cover on it that can be fastened. The tube is placed at the top (probably to keep the water from running over into the interior and contents of the tin). We have just tried the thing, and succeeded in liquefying honey, which was very thickly candied, in a very few minutes, using only moderate heat. In fact it worked nicely. There is a tight fitting cover to the can. The same principle could be made use of in constructing a can on a large scale.

DOGS THAT EAT EGGS.

A Farmer Tells How He Cured One of the Habit.

It is not a very common thing for dogs to get the egg-eating habit, but when they do the cure is much easier than most persons imagine. It is by no means necessary to kill the dog. Here is the experience of a New England farmer along that line:

"Not long ago I read where a man killed his dog because he got to eating eggs. This is a bad habit for a dog to acquire. I broke two valuable dogs of this habit, and I didn't take long either. When I found them eating an egg I took another one and made a hole in the end of it and stirred in a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, put the egg in his mouth, then held his jaws so he could not spit it out, and made him swallow it. Of course this is hard medicine and nearly choked him, but he had no more relish for eggs after that."

Poultry Markets.

The American markets of poultry have insufficient markets, which should prove a stimulus to the increased production of poultry. In many of the foreign markets poultry are sold in pieces, but the American buyer takes things in a more whole sale way. The great cities are immense consumers of poultry products, and are increasing their consumption of these. All of our small cities are growing at a rapid rate, and there are hundreds of these. The rural dweller is also a great consumer of poultry products. The farmer that will pay attention to his poultry can easily develop this side issue of the farm to the point where it will be of great value to him.

Grade the Poultry.

Grade poultry before marketing. If you have a lot of fat hens, a few old hens, persistent brooders, and some cocks to dispose of, grade them according to size and quality. Good hens in the same coop with old birds and broodies will not raise their quality, but they will be dragged down to the level of the poorest bird, and costs detract from the appearance of the entire coop. There is no good reason why a uniform price should be paid for all chickens.

Sorting According to Size.

I do not like chicks of different ages running together. The big ones crowd out the little ones and run over them, so that the little ones get starved and do not do well. Cockerels and pullets ought to be separated also when they get about two months old.

Strip It with Wire.

A good barrel or tub often goes to pieces for want of a hoop. Make a piece of ordinary wire, 3/4 in. in diameter, and twist the ends; then with a hammer drive the improved hoop down until it binds tightly.

Take Teals with You.

Look into the box every day to see that there are plenty of teals. It is always surprising to be compelled to make a long trip across the field for some tool that you forgot to take along.

Do not let wood ashes go to waste anywhere near you.

WOMAN'S RELIEF

Headache

A Paying Investment.

Mr. John White, of 38 Highland Ave., Houlton, Maine, says: "Have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I used many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50-cent bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, before that was half gone, the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed, a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies."

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to be strong, strong. He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, and I feel it's my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. TIME OF FATTENING.

In the Early Spring and the Fall the Best Gains Are Made.

A writer on the fattening of hogs says: There are two seasons of the year when the greatest gains can be made in hogs of the same type and under similar conditions with the same quantity of corn. These are in the early spring, before the weather becomes excessively hot, and in September, October and November, before it becomes excessively cold. Prudent farmers, therefore, aim to do the bulk of their feeding in these months. The objection to early fall feeding lies in this, that the packers usually make a combined effort to beat down the price of hogs at the beginning of the packing season. The fact that a very large per cent of the hogs are fed in the fall of the year, and thrown upon the market, enables them to do so in ordinary seasons without much difficulty. This season, however, is likely to prove an exception. The packing season begins the 1st of November, and the sharp demand at present prices for both live hogs and pork products makes it probable that the usual effort will not be made, or, at least, not with the same earnestness this year. While it is true, as a rule, that higher prices prevail in February and March than in November and December, the difficulty in making weights during the first named months, and the heavy expense involved in the way of keeping up the animal heat, go far to neutralize the difference in prices. Where the farmer does not sell in ear load lots it is a good thing to have a few hogs to turn off at different seasons of the year. It is also a good plan to have the largest lots to turn off at the close of the season, when the greatest gains can be made with the same amount of corn.

DIP THE LAMBS.

Unless You Do You Cannot Be Free from Ticks.

Shepherds are universally complaining of the wide prevalence of ticks. No flock is free from the pest except those that are dipped each year. I have been able to keep practically clear of them by dipping the lambs each spring after ewes have been shorn, writes a correspondent of Farm and Home.

As soon as this shearing is completed the ticks go to the lambs on account of the better protection offered them by the long lamb wool. One dipping may do, but it is best to be sure about it by dipping the lambs the second time about 12 days after the first.

I have always used a strong tobacco dip, although I have no doubt that some of the commercial dips are all right. I got tobacco stems of cigar manufacturers. I fill a 500-pound fertilizer sack as full of them as I can, and then put each and all into a bucket of water and boil thoroughly.

While this liquor is still lukewarm I dip the lambs into it and hold them under it for one minute, all but the head. By squeezing the liquor in and out of the wool thoroughly, and allowing it to drain back into the bucket, 50 gallons will suffice for 50 lambs.

To do the work quickly requires two men, one to hold the ewe's legs and head and the other the lamb's legs. By all means do not let this dipping go over until fall, for you will then have fattened the ticks, but never the lambs.

Running the Cows.

Does that dog chase the cows to and fro, or does it chase the boys to do so. The result is about the same.
